

Business Start-up Options

	Create a new, independent business	Buy an existing independent business	Buy into a franchise system
Financial Outlay at start-up
Borrowing or getting investors
Owner's freedom and flexibility
Business processes and system
Support networks
Workforce
Customer base and brand recognition

How would you finance your ideas?

- Self, friends, family
- R&D grant funding
- Business angels: an affluent individual who provides capital for a business start-up (usually in exchange for convertible debt or ownership equity). A common second round of financing for high-growth start-ups – bridges the funding gap between self and venture capital. Personal investments → more significant personal risks taken with investments than the managers of venture capital funds → tend to invest close to home + keep investment activities private, therefore, invest in privately held business ventures that have not been quoted publicly on the stock market
- Co-investment funds and early stage VC funds
- Venture capital: money provided to seed early-stage, emerging growth companies; venture capital funds invest in companies in exchange for equity in the companies they invest in
- Exit IPO/Trade sale etc: exit options for investors – selling investment/seeking a stock market listing in order to realise a return on their investment
- Crowdfunding: funding a project or venture by raising monetary contributions from a large number of people (often performed through internet-mediated registries, mail-order subscriptions, events etc.)

What ownership form to choose?

- Affects:
  - Tax liable to pay
  - Asset protection
  - Ongoing costs
  - Clients

Type of ownership	Advantages	Disadvantages
Sole Traders <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- A business owned by a single person</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Simplicity</li> <li>- Taxation at personal rates</li> <li>- Privacy</li> <li>- Flexibility and control</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Unlimited liability</li> <li>- Small in scale</li> <li>- Indifferentiable from owners, therefore impermanent</li> <li>- Limited in capacity to raise and retain capital</li> <li>- Limited in capacity to manage risk and diversify</li> </ul>
Partnerships <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Two or more people carry on a business in common with a view of profit</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Simplicity</li> <li>- Taxation at personal rates</li> <li>- More resources</li> <li>- Cost sharing</li> <li>- Broader skill and experience base</li> <li>- Longevity</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- All disadvantages of sole traders</li> <li>- Disputes between partners about sharing profits and administration of the business</li> <li>- Partners can be liable for debts incurred by other partners</li> </ul>
Resolving the problems: Corporations <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- A large company or group of companies authorised to act as a single entity               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Characteristics:</li> </ul> </li> <li>- Can sue or be sued in their own names</li> <li>- Enter into and enforce contracts</li> <li>- Hold title to and transfer property</li> <li>- Be found liable for violations of law</li> <li>- Limited liability</li> <li>- Perpetual succession</li> <li>- Transferability of shares</li> <li>- Separate property</li> </ul>
Private Company <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Business company owned by non-governmental organisations or by a relatively small number of shareholders</li> <li>- Does not offer shares to general public on the stock market exchanges</li> <li>- Often family owned</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Limited liability for shareholders so personal assets of shareholders will not be at risk of being seized</li> <li>- Continuity of existence: business not affected by status of owner</li> <li>- Pay corporation tax and tend to be exempt from higher personal income tax rates</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Shares in a private limited company cannot be sold or transferred without the agreement of shareholders</li> <li>- Lack of public confidence because affairs are unknown</li> </ul>

- Initial public offering – IPO
  - Selling shares in a company to the public
  - Usually via an exchange e.g. ASX
  - Expands investor base
  - Creates greater compliance and reporting burden

- Growth options
  - o Scale
  - o Efficiency – importance of innovation
  - o Resources
  - o Influence
  - o Returns

- Organic Growth

Pros	Cons
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Deeper client base relationships</li> <li>- Harmony/opportunity</li> <li>- Internal innovation</li> <li>- Lower cost</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Retentions</li> <li>- Vulnerability</li> <li>- Scale</li> <li>- speed</li> </ul>

- Non Organic Growth

- o Mergers and acquisitions
  - Mergers: two companies becoming a single entity
e.g. Exxon and Mobil
  - Acquisitions: one company buying another company
    - Why?
Synergy: increase in performance of the combined firm over what the two firms are already expected to accomplish as independent firms, e.g.:
    - Increased market power
    - Control of supplier
    - Consolidation of excess productive capacity
    - Key people/technologies as the focus of activity
    - Key customer acquisition

The KPMG Global M&A Survey
– reason for acquisition

- What drives post-acquisition performance?
  - Strategic readiness
  - Relative size
  - Method of acquisition
  - Method of payment
  - Previous acquisitions
- o Joint ventures
  - Separate legal entity between multiple firms
  - 'two or more firms working together to achieve mutually beneficial objective...usually involves an element of shared ownership' (Needle 2010, p. 546)
- o Strategic alliances
  - Long term partnership between firms to develop, produce or sell products
  - 'two or more companies agreeing to cooperate on a specific venture, often involving shared facilities or services' (Needle 2010, p.38)